

Customer-centricity responsibilities vary greatly across the organization

The customer journey is complex & disjointed

Producing inconsistent identities & data siloed in different organizations

Causing organizations to fail to use data to serve customers

11%

Only 11% of enterprises effectively use a wide variety of data types in a unified customer profile

80%

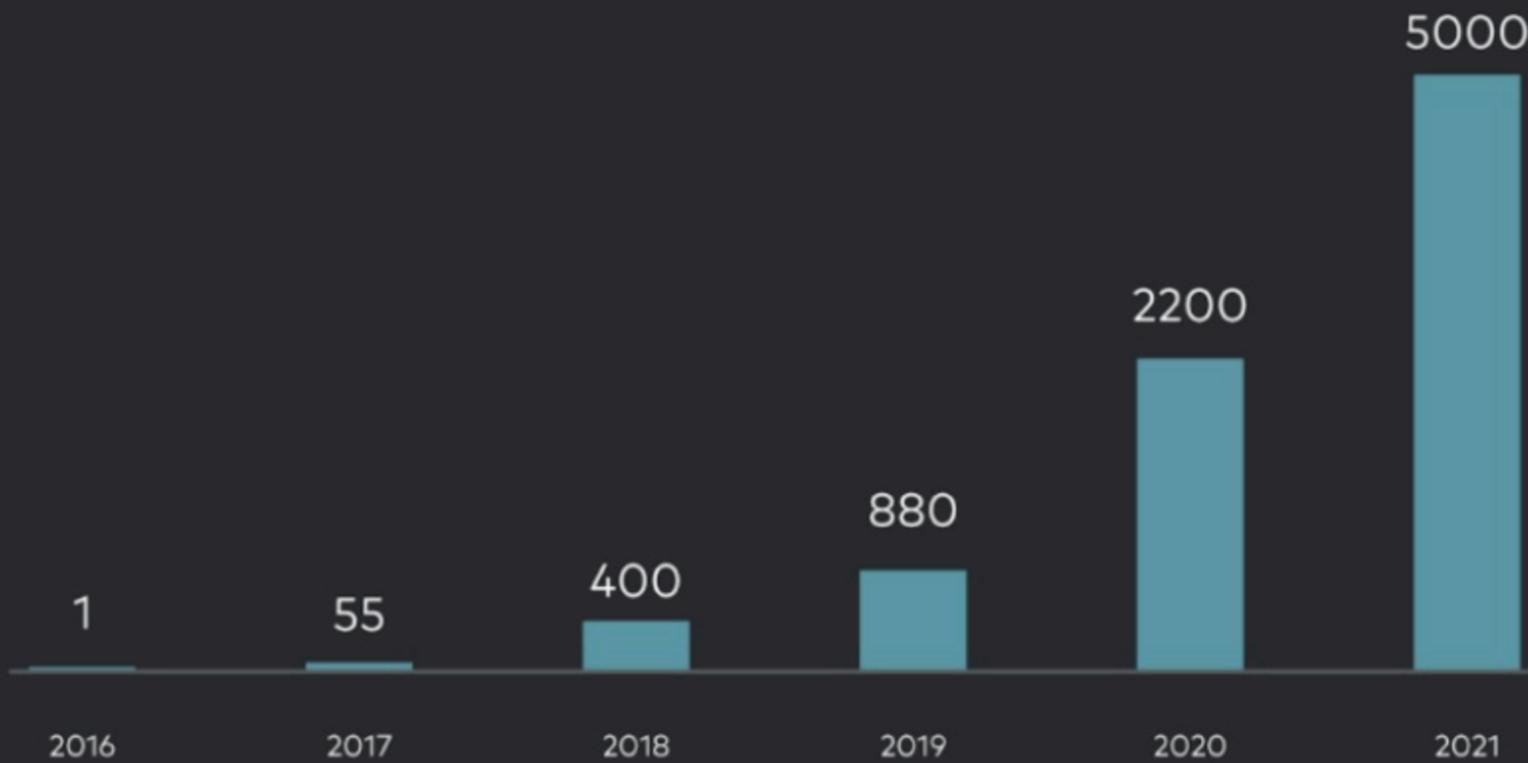

80% of customers who switch from a brand feel the enterprise could have done something to retain them

52%

52% of customers say that enterprises are generally impersonal

Enterprise scale

Customer Data Managed TB

602 billion

Records Ingested

To date

2,317

Data Sources

423 billion

Records Egressed

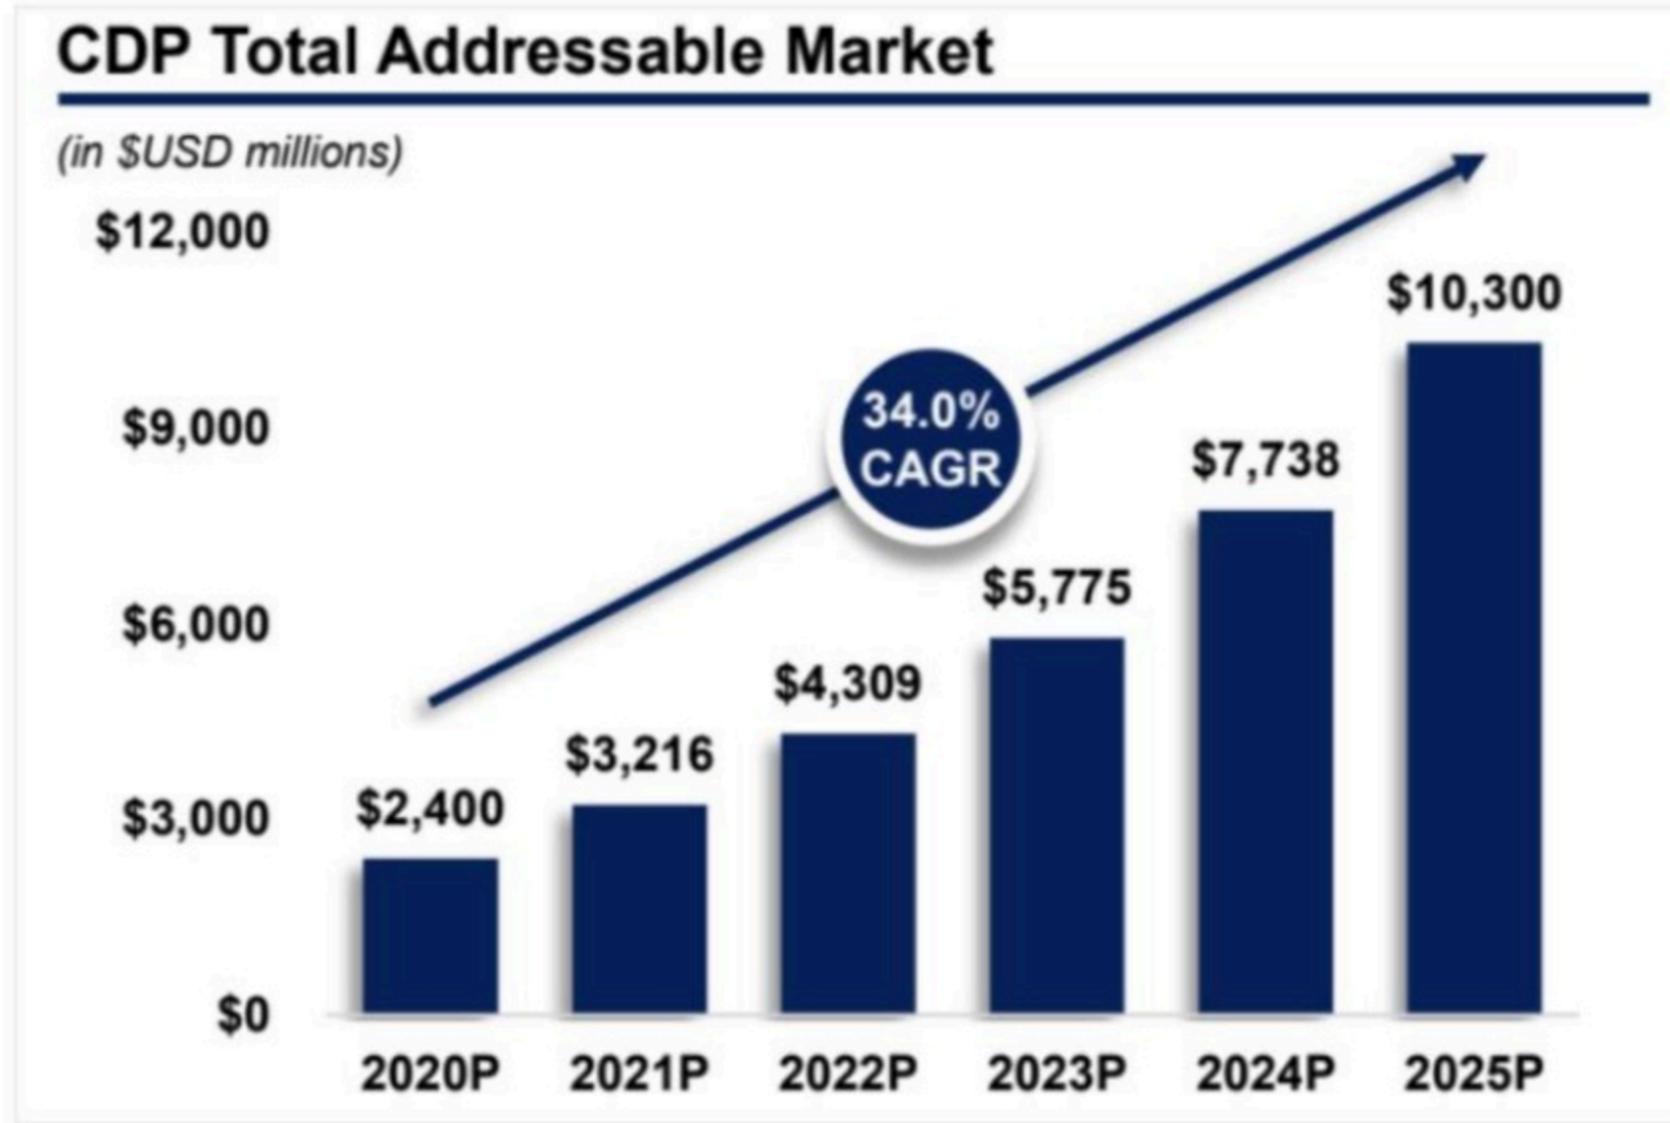

1414

Destinations

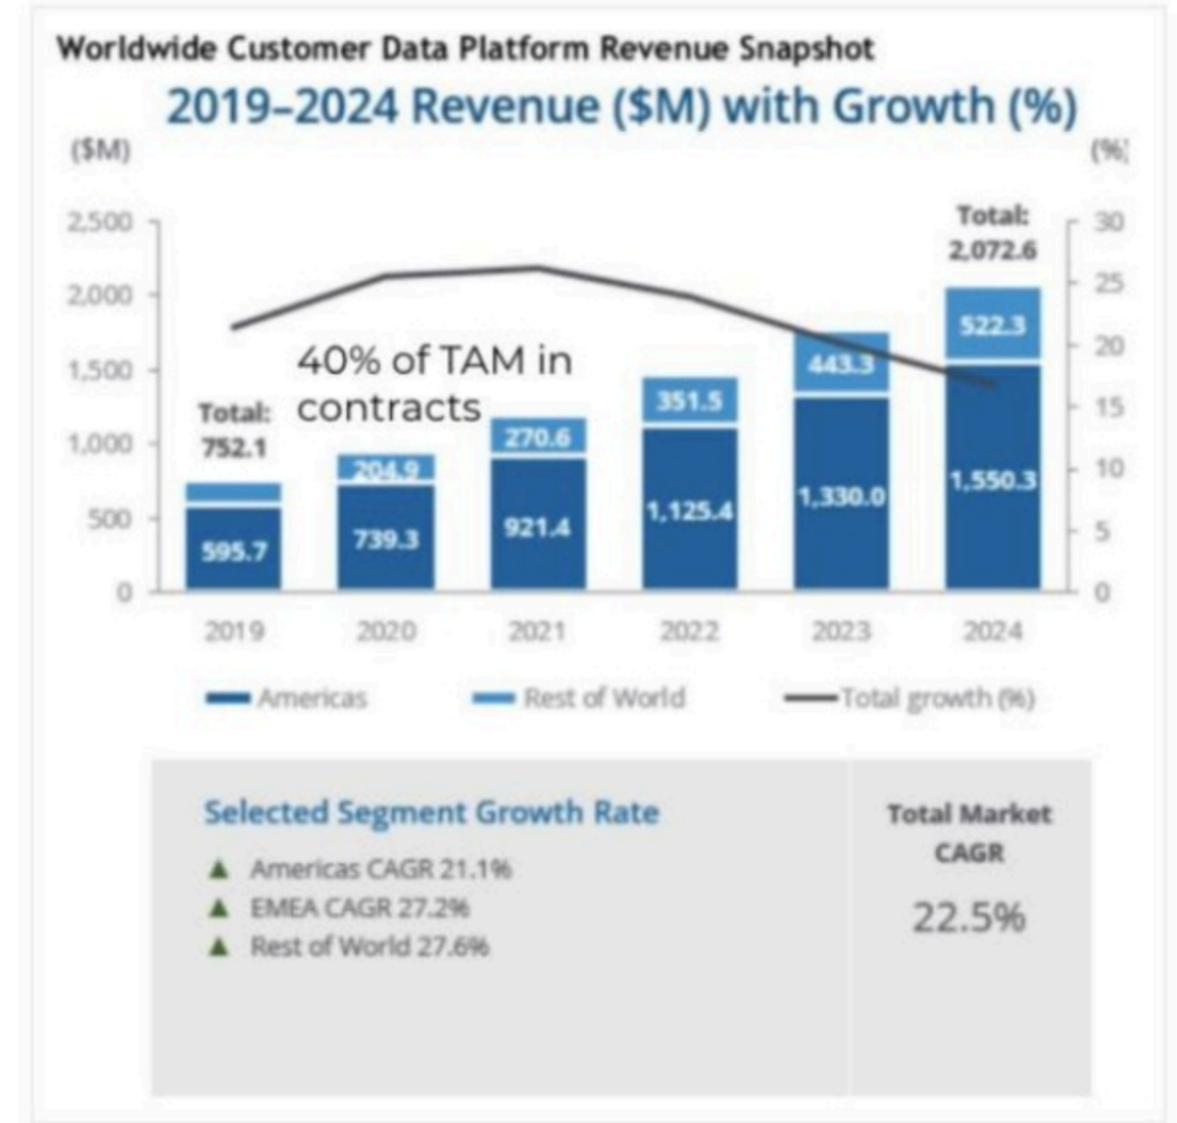

3 billion

Daily Customer Experiences Powered by Amperity

CDP market estimates

Source: DCA

Source: IDC

Amperity is at the intersection of an awakening to first-party data

Maniacal focus from brands on loyalty and first party ID

Cookiepocalypse driving new demand

Blue chip tech entering CDP and validating/growing market

