Problem

The current system of buying/selling real estate is a pain for all parties involved – it requires piles of manual paperwork and offers no transparency into where things are at in the overall process.

Reesio: The Dream Real Estate App

Reesio combines all Real Estate document storing/sharing/e-signing, as well as workflow management and other details, into one beautiful flow for only $20/agent/month.
